Viet Cong Raid Brings Death To 3 Americans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas overran a small outpost at the southern tip of Viet Nam today, killing three American soldiers and nine South Vietnamese.

Ten Vietnamese soldiers were wounded in the surprise attack by about 50 Communists.

The casualties brought the total of Americans killed in action in South Viet Nam to 229 since December 1961.

Two of the Americans killed today were infantry officers and the third was an enlisted man.

Their outpost 125 miles from Saigon apparently was being used as the command post in an operation.

The Viet Cong force, small by usual standards, probably infiltrated the post before opening fire, a U.S. source said.

In the An Lao mountain valley, 30 miles northeast of Saigon, Viet Cong guerrillas were making a determined attempt to overrun a district headquarters.

The battle was still going on tonight, a U.S. spokesman said.

American helicopter pilots reported the Viet Cong moving openly across the valley.

"We have been shooting at them in the open and running across roads and at automatic weapons positions in the trees," said Maj. Clement A. Wyllie, of Chattanooga, Tenn., commander of an armed helicopter unit.

The Viet Cong blew up the only bridge leading to the tiny valley. Military sources reported three armored personnel carriers moving to the battle area were hit and were in flames.

Vehicles around the barbed-wire fort at the district headquarters were burning, Wyllie reported. He said there were many dead and wounded Vietnamese inside the fort.

A relentless fire from Communist heavy weapons poured into the fort, and helicopters were being continually fired on.

One helicopter piloted by Capt. Peter R. Coggins of Manchester, N.H., made a hazardous flight into the fort to pick up nine wounded. It was hit by mortar fragments on the way out.

Troops airlifted into the area were being dropped on a 2,000 foot mountain because all other areas were under heavy fire, Wyllie said.

In Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor continued high-level discussions following his trip to Washington last week.

Taylor met today with Chief of State Phan Khanh Suu and members of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's legislature.

THE CIRCLEVILLE Pumpkin Show committee sent more than 40 questionnaires to church groups and civic organizations that had food stands in an effort to determine the economic effect of the annual event on the community.

To date, only 10 of the questionnaires have been completed and returned. . . Pumpkin Show Director Ned Harden emphasized today that all information will be kept in the strictest of confidence. . . He pointed out the committee is simply trying to determine approximately how much of the money spent during the gala festival remained in the community. . .

The 10 organizations returning the desired information showed total gross sales of $17,000. . . This includes the sale of 42,000 sandwiches and 2,000 pies.

WESTMINSTER, Calif. (AP) — Whoever said experience is the best teacher had it all wrong — at least in young Stephen Dugman's case.

Stephen, 10, took his first driving lesson — solo — Monday. He drove to his aunt's home in Pacoima, Calif., 62 miles away, police said.

That, by itself, is a considerable accomplishment, as any veteran truck driver would admit. Stephen, however, took the joy ride during the peak traffic rush hour, navigating a long distance on the San Diego Freeway.

The freeway speed limit is 65 miles an hour. Stephen's speed was not determined.

Police learned of the trip from a neighbor, who reported at 8:15 a.m. he had seen the boy driving around the neighborhood.

Police contacted his mother, Mrs. Joseph Dugman, who said that she didn't know what had gotten into the boy.

Two hours later, officers said, Stephen showed up at his aunt's home. Bernice Watts, after the recovered from the shock, called Westminster, then had her 17-year-old son drive Stephen home — to a severe greeting.

Fire Destroys Mail

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Fire destroyed about 20 per cent of the mail, mostly packages, in a loaded Erie Lackawanna Railroad car Monday. Sparks from a blow torch used to thaw frozen pipes in the car apparently caused the blaze.

While saying that "no pupil may be coerced or required to participate in any religious activity or observance," the statement added that "an important objective of education is the development of moral and ethical values in children."

Ex-Walton Chief Dies

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Walter Frye, 81, national president of the Izaak Walton League from 1948 to 1951, died Sunday. Frye retired about five years ago after teaching in Akron schools for 40 years.

U.S., British Chiefs Continue Their Parley

SE Asia, NATO Problems Due For Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson continued the talks today with two main subjects expected on the agenda: the nuclear future of the Atlantic Alliance and the situation in Southeast Asia.

Wilson began to spell out his ideas on how to organize a nuclear weapons force within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at a mid-afternoon session with Johnson Monday, their second of the day. The prime minister will conclude his presentation today and then, presumably, Johnson will present a defense of the multilateral force as conceived by the United States.

Wilson is cool to the idea. Instead, the Labor government is understood to propose the formation of a new NATO nuclear command, to include Britain's nuclear bombers and submarines and all or most of the nuclear tactical weapons already in Europe.

The U.S.-suggested nuclear fleet, drastically reduced from the proposed 25 ships with 200 Polaris missiles, also would be part of the new command.

The two leaders will seek no decisions on this delicate and complex issue, observers on both sides cautioned Monday night. The word that no blueprint will emerge from the two-day conference was stressed repeatedly, with American and British officials using the same word.

What should be achieved in the talks is a mutual understanding on how to shape the West's nuclear defense, before the issue is taken up with the Allies in NATO, the officials said.

The Johnson-Wilson talks are going far beyond the NATO problem, it was emphasized after the first day. The aim is to formulate a joint philosophy on the role in the world of the only two Western powers with world wide responsibilities.

While the mixed-manned nuclear missile fleet is at the heart of the NATO problem, it is but one factor, the British are saying. American observers are hopeful that this means Wilson would not rightly oppose the fleet concept, if it can be submerged in a broader Atlantic force.

The prime minister is understood to be ready to talk today again about his country's growing tasks east of the Suez, in the Middle East and in Malaysia, while Johnson is expected to remind his guest of the need to apply the same to South Viet Nam.

Monday night Johnson gave a dinner at the White House for Wilson.

Tower of Pisa

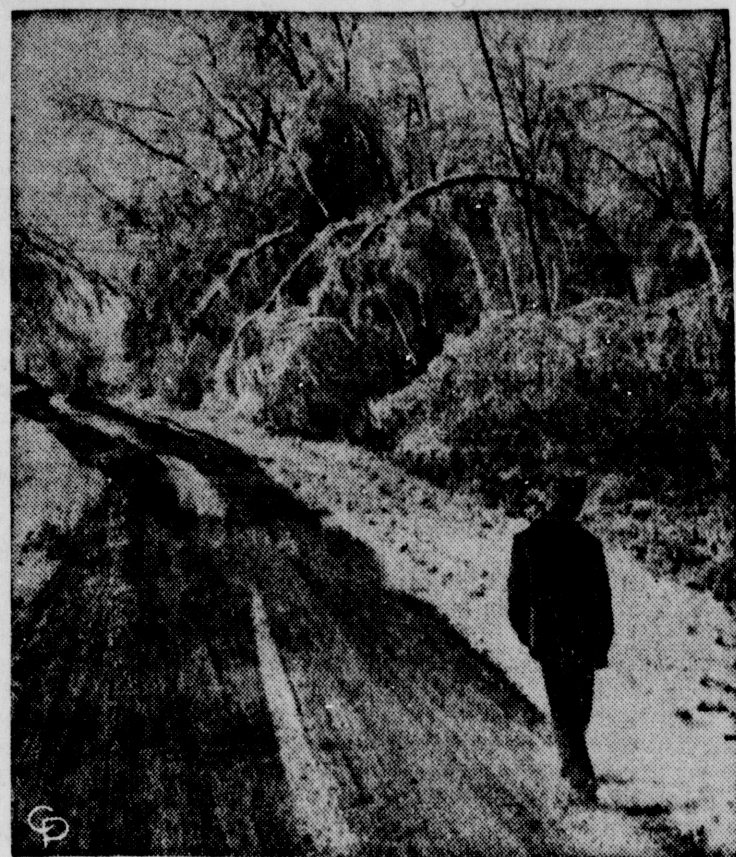

May Get Shoring

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The president of a suburban Minneapolis company has gone to Italy with a plan to shore up the leaning tower of Pisa.

The company, Soil Solidifiers Inc., is trying to interest the Italian Public Works Commission in using a solution the company says makes earth nearly as hard as concrete.

J. W. Alexander, company president, went to Rome Monday to spell out details. Italian officials recently invited engineers to propose ideas to keep the famed tower from toppling over eventually.

Divorce Cases Involving Children To Take 6 Months

An increase in the number of divorce cases has prompted Common Pleas Judge William Ammer to reactivate a ruling concerning the waiting period before the final hearing on domestic relations suits.

Beginning the first of the year, Judge Ammer said today, all divorce cases where minor children are involved will not be finalized until after a six-month "waiting period."

The waiting period for the past few years has been a mere six weeks. Many times, according to court records, couples are granted a divorce and within a few days are re-married.

The judge met recently with local attorneys concerning the ruling. According to Ammer, the proposal met little or no opposition from members of the Pickaway County Bar Assn.

THE SIX-MONTH waiting period was originally instituted here under the judgeship of Emmitt L. Crist. Judge William D. Radcliff continued the practice and when Ammer was appointed to the bench, he changed the waiting period back to six weeks. Ohio law provides for the six-week waiting period, but the county court has the prerogative of a more lengthy waiting period before a final hearing.

Ammer said he changed the ruling when he became Common Pleas Judge because of a decrease in the divorce cases. However, the situation has been reversed. The judge is re-instituting the ruling "due to an alarming increase" in divorces being filed.

For the first 11 months (until Dec. 1) of this year, a total of 168 divorce cases were filed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. On Dec. 1, there were 94 cases pending action.

The judge and members of the bar feel the six-month waiting period will help put an end to "quickie divorces." They contend that the ruling may save some marriages and with counseling, couples may realize the responsibilities of married life — particularly when children are involved.

Two Proposals for '65 Event Aired by Pumpkin Show Panel

Two proposals brought before the Circleville Pumpkin Show board of directors last night during a dinner meeting at the Carriage House met with lively discussion.

They were a suggestion to invite a Russian pumpkin grower to the 1965 show and a proposal to change the parade route.

The bid to invite a Russian to the event stemmed from a recent news story originating in the USSR in which the Russians claimed to have grown a record size pumpkin.

The parade route change was suggested by Ned Harden because of the congestion in the downtown area during the popular processions.

ONE proposal was to route parades around the business section. The route would begin on Pickaway St., turn west on Franklin, going to Scioto St. Parades would then turn north on Scioto to Pinckney and then east to Watt and on to Pickaway St.

Roy Marshall suggested just reversing the route now used. This means parades would pass through the busiest sections of the area first.

He noted that many people lined Franklin St. to see the parade early and then migrated to the center of town, adding to the congestion.

No action will be taken on any of the proposals until the next meeting.

In another move, Tom Rodenfels was appointed assistant publicity manager for the annual show.

The directors agreed the Queen of Queens Parade on the final night of the show was a definite asset. Ned Dresbach said when the Ohio Festivals Assn. meets in January, the Pumpkin Show again will be offered as a site for this event.

UAW Chief 'OK' After Operation

DETROIT (AP) — The condition of President Walter P. Reuther of the United Auto Workers Union was reported satisfactory at Henry Ford Hospital today.

Reuther, 57, was operated on Monday for removal of what was described as a "small spot" on his right lung.

An official statement from the UAW reported that the lung spot was "successfully removed." The statement gave no further details except to term the operation a "conservative surgical procedure" and report Reuther's condition satisfactory.

A union spokesman, saying the statement spoke for itself, declined to answer a question whether malignancy had been found.

Farmers Fight Reapportioning

Redistricting Study Ordered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee undertook the task today of hammering out differences on congressional redistricting, biggest hurdle facing the special legislative session.

The committee was named by Republican leaders Monday night after the House soundly rejected Senate amendments which made the legislation virtually unrecognizable from the version passed earlier by the House.

One Democrat and eight Republicans voted to concur with Senate amendments while 99 House members disapproved.

Named to the joint conference committee from the Senate were Sens. Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, chairman of the Senate State Government Committee which drafted the upper chamber's version; Robert E. Stockdale, R-Portage, and Charles J. Carney, D-Mahoning.

The House conferees named by Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, are Reps. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, chairman of the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee which drew up the House plan; F. K. Cassel, R-Wyandot, and Anthony O. Calabrese Jr., D-Cuyahoga.

Senate majority leader C. Stanley Meechem, R-Athens, expressed the hope committee members would be able to resolve differences "in a few days", clearing the way for adjournment of the special session now in its fifth week.

The lone House Democrat favoring the senate redistricting plan was Rep. John E. Wilson, D-Clermont. Republicans voting to concur were Reps. Herman Ankeney of Greene County, Harry L. Armstrong, Logan; Robert C. Carpenter, Seneca; Margaret Dennison, Trumbull; Roy J. Gililand, Jackson; George A. Meinhart, Meigs; Barry Levey, Butler, and Luther P. Mitchell, Marion.

In other business Monday night, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would abolish the State Pardon and Parole Commission and replace it with an Adult Parole Authority.

The administration-backed measure carried by a 69-41 vote—just enough for passage—after Democratic opponents asserted a bill of such major proportions needed more careful study.

Check-Kiter Found Guilty

Revolt in Haiti Said Financed

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Akron man has been convicted of defrauding the Dime Bank of Akron of $124,319 by an arrangement which he claimed was used to get money to support a revolution in Haiti.

A U. S. District Court jury convicted Andrew D. Adams, 50, Monday of acquiring the sum in a 20-month check kiting operation.

Judge James C. Connell ordered Adams held pending a pre-sentence report from the court's probation office.

Adams faces up to 40 years in prison and $50,000 in fines. Neither Adams nor his attorney, Christopher T. Chepas, would say whether the verdict would be appealed.

The nine men and three women on the jury took only a hour to find Adams guilty on each of the five counts in the indictment.

Government attorneys presented evidence that Adams had set up accounts in the Bowery branch of the Dime-Bank and in the Bank of Albion in Albion, Mich.

Witnesses testified that Adams cashed checks at the Akron bank and sent bundles of cash to Albion to cover them, after retaining some of it for himself.

Adams admitted on the stand that he had cashed all of the checks at the Dime Bank and had arranged to send the cash to Albion.

Government evidence was that the deposits began at $6,000 a day and continued almost daily for 20 months with the amounts rising to $62,000 at the close. The government attorneys said Adams used more than 5,000 checks for a total of $14 million in the operation.

President Given Whispered Advice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Monday night of some whispered advice he had received from the First Lady.

At a White House dinner honoring British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Johnson said: "I had some very special advice, Mr. Prime Minister, just a few minutes before you arrived. My wife whispered in my ear as we were coming out to greet you this morning, she said, 'Dear, this is judgment day and be sure you use plenty of it.'"

"I have tried to follow her advice."

The minister said the dog was shipped by air Monday, along with a card carrying the compliments of Holstein's four daughters — May, Linda, Susan and Irene.

Police Chief Orders Count of Calories

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Calories count, says Idaho Falls Police Chief Robert Pollock, who has ordered each officer, including uniformed female members of his department, to weigh in daily and mark the pounds on a chart.

The order is part of a weight-reduction program launched to improve physical fitness. A loss of a pound a week was ordered for overweight officers.

Court Ruling Change Asked

Farm Bureau Opens Grass Roots Drive

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is starting a grass roots drive designed to prevent farmers from losing voting strength in state legislatures.

Platform writers at the big farm organization's annual convention today called upon its members and leaders to campaign to set aside — through a constitutional amendment — a recent Supreme Court ruling which would reduce rural voting power in legislatures.

The ruling held that representation in state lawmaking bodies must be solely on the basis of population. In most states having bicameral legislatures, membership in one body has been based on other factors, mostly on areas, and the other on population.

The farm population has been declining sharply in many states. Because of tax matters, rural zoning, highways, education and other state and local problems, Farm Bureau leaders consider it essential that farm strength be maintained in legislatures.

Both farm groups want an amendment to the U. S. Constitution which would retain the old system of apportioning legislative seats.

"Our time-tested and successful pattern of legislative representation on both an area and a population basis provides a workable system of checks and balances," said a convention resolution.

"It assures a republic that it is a truly representative form of government with consideration for minority and area interests."

Training of Santa Labeled Involved, Expensive Project

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Think it's easy to be Santa Claus?

John J. Ford, new head of the Volunteers of America, recruiters of sidewalk Santas for Philadelphia's needy, says training Santa "is a very expensive and involved project."

"They must learn to handle people and how to talk to children."

"They must never promise a child that he will get any particular present."

"If asked directly if they are the real Santa Claus, they must say that they are Santa's helpers."

"They must also remember never to eat garlic or onions before they go onto the street corners."

Replacement Beagle Is Sent to Johnson

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) — A female beagle has been sent to Washington as a gift for President Johnson, whose 5-year-old Beagle Herd died recently.

The Rev. William Freeman, Baptist minister who raises beagles as a hobby, said the dog was sent at the instructions of E. D. Hollstein, a lawyer from Rushville, Neb.

The minister said the dog was shipped by air Monday, along with a card carrying the compliments of Holstein's four daughters — May, Linda, Susan and Irene.

Shopping Days till CHRISTMAS

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Liquor Control reported today that its liquor sales were up a little more than a half of one per cent for November and 4.81 per cent for the year to date, compared to corresponding periods of 1963.

Director Donald D. Cook reported month-end sales figures show that total November liquor sales came to $20,512,456 as compared to $20,401,027 in November 1963. Total sales for the year to date are $202,677,968, contrasted with the $193,382,543 total for the first 11 months last year.

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Antioch College has been granted $200,000 by the Carnegie Corp. of New York for a study of the future role of private liberal arts institutions in American higher education.

The Antioch study will be done against a background of some educators questioning whether such colleges any longer have a place in higher education. Carnegie said questions arise because of the growth of junior colleges, the expansion of public colleges and universities and the increasing costs of higher education to students and institutions.

Morris Keeton, Antioch dean, will head the study.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—J. Ronald Pittman, new executive director of this city's Human Relations Committee, says he was flooded with offers of homes for rent after publication of a story saying he was turned down at one house because of his race.

Pittman, a Negro, said the man who allegedly refused him because of race was one of those who now have offered to rent homes to him. He said the man, whom he did not identify, telephoned Tuesday and apologized.

Pittman said several persons called "and said they would welcome us into their neighborhoods. Some of them indicated to me that there are no Negroes in their areas now, that we would be the first."

NEW YORK (AP)—Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach says there has been remarkably good compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act in the South but that "citadels of bigotry don't crumble overnight."

Katzenbach says he believes there "will be future indignities; there may well be future violence."

One of the reasons for Southern acceptance of the Civil Rights Act, Katzenbach said, may well be the government's restraint in using federal force.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Labor Minister Augusto Martinez Sanchez, notified that he was being dismissed from his post, shot himself in the head today, Havana Radio said.

A broadcast heard in Miami said his condition was reported as serious. The shooting occurred at 1 a.m., the radio said, but gave no further details.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The United States and Cambodia began talks today aimed at settling their differences. The outcome may determine whether the Southeast Asian kingdom drops behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Officials on both sides declined comment. The talks will last a week or longer in this neutral capital selected by Cambodia.

Chief negotiators Son Sann of Cambodia and Philip W. Bonsal of the United States shook hands and chatted as they posed for photographers.

The discussions come at times when Cambodia has been threatening to expel U.S. Embassy personnel from Phnom Penh. Sihanouk, denouncing the United States as an imperialist aggressive nation, has been drawing closer to Red China.

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Armored cars and truckloads of police today patrolled the streets of Khartoum, where the toll of two days of rioting has climbed to 38 dead and more than 500 injured.

While a precarious peace settled in the heart of the Sudanese capital, new outbursts of violence swept suburban areas throughout the night where vengeance-seeking Arabs pursued African blacks blamed for starting bloody racial rioting Sunday.

Anti-Western feeling mounted. Arab masses and Arab press editorials accused "Western agents and missionaries" of inciting the Africans to riot.

Stock Mart Rise Erased

NEW YORK (AP)—An early stock market rise was erased this afternoon and the market showed a mixed and weaker trend in fairly active trading.

In the morning, continued strength by a scattering of blue chips kept the averages a little in plus territory but these key stocks trimmed their prices as the session continued.

Almost from the start, steels and rails were lower but the selected gainers kept the market indicators higher.

Rails were depressed by a breakdown of Washington talks in the nationwide rail wage dispute. Steels were unsettled by the prospect of going into formal union contract negotiations soon.

Big Three motors, except for Chrysler—which was a full point higher—were down.

DuPont, in early trading up more than a point, stumbled to a net fractional loss, thus removing an important prop from the averages.

Local Youth Bound To Grand Jury

Walter Seymour, 18, Circleville, was bound to the grand jury today by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb on a morals charge involving a girl under 16.

Seymour entered a plea of innocent. However, the judge ruled there was sufficient evidence presented to warrant a grand jury hearing. Bond was set at $1,000.

The charges were filed by Richard Snouffer, Circleville High School principal.

South Africa Racial Justice Is Urged

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King, prior to leaving for Oslo to accept the Nobel Peace Prize, told a mass meeting Monday night that Britain and the United States are "bolstering up the South African tyranny" that promotes racial segregation.

The Negro civil rights leader said both governments must act decisively. "We must join in a nonviolent action to bring freedom and justice to South Africa by a massive movement for economic sanctions," he said.

Students Shun Peace Offer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A peace offer spurned by the University of California's rebel student group comes under the scrutiny of 1,200 faculty members on the Berkeley campus today with a return to order of continued demonstrations for unrestricted politico-social campaigning in the balance.

Girl Turns Cartwheels, Making Medical History

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A year ago Toni Beugen was making medical history.

Today she does a cartwheel if she feels like it and zips off to suburban St. Louis Park High School.

But in doing that she's still making medical history.

Toni, 17, was the subject of a pioneering operation at University of Minnesota hospitals in which she received two kidneys transplanted to her body from a child who had died.

It was a break-through for doctors who had long wondered

U.S. Postpones Policy Outline

Clue Is Awaited On Soviet Debt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States has delayed its policy speech to the U.N. General Assembly for another week in hopes the Soviet Union will give some clue by then to what it intends to do about its peace-keeping debt.

The postponement—second in a week—disappointed many delegates anxious to learn the Johnson administration's position on U.N. issues.

The United States also is awaiting the return of ailing Secretary-General U Thant, who took over the financial negotiations shortly before he went to the hospital with a gastric ailment last Friday.

A U.N. spokesman announced late Monday that Thant will be back on the job by the middle of next week. A U.S. source said the United States will speak in the assembly about then.

The United States wants to confer with Thant on the progress of his financial negotiations before deciding how hard a line to take in the policy debate.

The State Department said it was giving close study to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's speech to the assembly Monday in which he charged that U.S. policy in Europe, Asia and Africa imperils world peace.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson issued a statement denouncing Gromyko's speech as "harsh cold-war talk" and expressing hope that it was "more propaganda than policy."

State Department officials in Washington said privately that the Soviet foreign minister offered little new and that Moscow seems to be marking time on major issues.

Gromyko made no direct reference to formulas being advanced to solve the U.N. financial crisis created by Soviet refusal to pay peace-keeping assessments.

Ohio Migrant Labor Study Is Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes' special committee on migrant labor resumes its work today with this objective: Creating an attractive economic climate to lure sufficient migratory workers to the state next summer.

The committee of 60 farm, business, civic and religious leaders met Monday and heard warnings that the competition for migratory workers next summer is going to be stiff.

"California is pretty desperate and we'll need to have an attractive migratory climate from the standpoint of schools, health, welfare and recreations," state industrial relations director William O. Walker told the committee.

He was one of three state cabinet members to appear before the committee.

The increased competition is expected because the federal government's bracer program is ending Dec. 31. California relied heavily on that program for its fruit and vegetable pickers. Ohio normally gets the bulk of its migratory labor force from Texas.

Stressing the worth of Ohio agriculture, John M. Stackhouse, state agricultural director, said the state got more than $1 billion last year from its crops.

State health director, Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, told the committee the state's migrant health projects are in good shape but suggested improvements.

The Academic Senate—all faculty members with tenure—set a meeting for p. m. to review the squelched peace proposal, listen to alternative plans and announce their opinion.

Insurgent students temporarily suspended until 8 a.m. Wednesday their strike and picketing of university entrances and classroom buildings in an effort to promote a general strike. They said whether or not they resume depends on the Academic Senate's report on the peace plan turned down Monday.

Rebel student leaders went to Sacramento saying they would place their protests before Gov. Edmund G. Brown today.

A minority of the 27,400-member student body is demanding the right to recruit volunteers and solicit funds anywhere on campus for off-campus politico-social activities, including civil rights work.

Their protests led to a loosening of regulations by the university Board of Regents last month. The regents gave permission for on-campus solicitation and recruitment in three designated areas for lawful off-campus activity.

A spokesman for the insurgent group, called Free Speech Movement, said the movement's prime demand is for removal of the word "lawful" from the regulations. He said students want to participate in such activities as civil rights demonstrations in the South because they feel they are worthy though unlawful.

Only the regents can change the regulations.

Free Speech Movement demonstrations, protest rallies and picketing have produced turmoil on the campus over the past two months.

The group staged a sit-in at the university's administration building which was broken up with the arrest last Thursday of 814 demonstrators on orders of Gov. Brown.

Those arrested included 590 students, 89 teaching assistants, researchers and university employees, and 135 persons not connected with the university.

The Alameda County district attorney's office said that because of the large number arrested it has been unable to identify the 135 non-students.

At a mass arraignment Monday the total number dropped to 768 with dismissal of charges against teen-agers caught in the sit-in.

Municipal Judge Rupert Crittenden told the 768 they face charges which "may seriously affect your future." He continued their cases to Monday so attorneys could prepare their defense.

In a dramatic convocation in the university's Greek Theater Monday, university president Clark Kerr offered a peace plan drafted by the Council of Department Chairmen which included dropping of university charges against four student leaders of the Free Speech Movement.

As he finished, the FSM president, Mario Savio, sought to address the crowd of about 17,000 over the microphone just relinquished by Kerr.

Campus police quickly seized Savio and hauled him offstage as members of the audience booed and shouted: "Let him speak."

He was released moments later and allowed to speak. He said that all he wanted to do was announce an immediate student rally. Savio said he had been "hustled off" by the police and had not been struck.

Savio later told the rally the peace proposal was "totally unacceptable."

Kerr said after the incident he noted unfavorable crowd reaction to the police action which took place in full view of the audience.

"The effect was a terrible disappointment," he said. "There is no question that this episode makes those efforts (of the department chairmen) less fruitful."

"The procedure of the adult court would have to bend extremely in this case. There would be many legal complexities and only adult criminal institutions such as the penitentiary available if he were found guilty."

"All of these circumstances indicate that the community can best be served by hearing this case in the juvenile court."

46 Million Christmas Trees Seen for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 46 million Christmas trees will add glitter to the American holiday season this year, the Agriculture Department predicts.

Most of the trees will come from domestic forests and plantations, but about 850,000 will be cut in national forests.

The department said a six-foot tree may take as much as a quart of water daily to keep it fresh and fire-resistant after it is first brought indoors.

Canada supplies about one-quarter of all the Christmas trees sold in the United States.

Welfare Building Project Getting Additional Study

Efforts to construct a new welfare building at the Pickaway Fairgrounds appear to be stalemated for the time being.

Meeting with the Board of County Commissioners yesterday to discuss the proposed project were Leo Rinehart and another official from the State Welfare Department. A review of facts and figures already compiled was conducted.

Bids on building construction were opened here Nov. 4, although no contract was awarded in order to allow further study of the figures submitted.

Preliminary plans for construction were approved by the Board of Commissioners in May of this year. Initial estimates placed the project cost in the neighborhood of $40,000, although it was indicated bids received surpassed this figure.

According to original surveys, most of the building cost would be borne by the State Welfare Department. The county's responsibility would amount to providing necessary land and partial cost of planning stages.

Also present for yesterday's discussion was L. Eugene Swartz whose Chillicothe firm has been employed to prepare preliminary plans for the project.

The Commission today indicated the possibility of securing a rental property as a Welfare Department headquarters has not been ruled out. One board member said additional checks probably will be made on such locations.

The county lawmakers, opening their final quarterly session of the year, approved a request from County Treasurer Robert Wood to extend the first half real estate tax collection from Dec. 20 to Jan. 20.

The treasurer's request noted that tax statements will not be prepared for mailing in time to keep the tax books open for the prescribed amount of time without such an extension.

In addition to routine transfers, the solons okayed a motion to close the Courthouse on the Saturday morning following Christmas and Saturday morning after New Years Day.

Commissioners Clyde Michel and Wayne Hines are scheduled to study several quarterly sheep and hog claims. Solon Lloyd Melvin is in Florida on vacation.

Judge Elected To OCPJ Post

Judge William Ammer was elected third vice president of the Ohio Common Pleas Judges Assn. during the group's annual meeting last week in Columbus.

More than 100 judges attended the session in which Judge John Rossetti, Canton, was elected president. The meeting was held at the Christopher Inn.

Driver Fined $500 Here on Three Counts

Darrell Romans, 23, Columbus, was handed fines totaling $500 and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

The defendant was found guilty of three separate traffic violations.

Arrested by the State Highway Patrol, Romans was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, driving while his license was suspended and driving a car with false registration.

For the OMVI charge, the Judge levied a fine of $250 and costs and sentenced the Columbus man to 30 days in the county jail. He also ordered his driver's rights suspended for three years.

The fine for driving while his license was suspended was $150 and costs, plus another 30-day jail term to be served consecutively with the first sentence. The false registration charge drew a $100 fine from the judge.

Other cases on the court docket were: John C. Quarles, 37, Columbus; $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Joseph S. Steward, 21, Columbus; $15 and costs for speeding 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Willard Long, 39, Columbus; $20 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Thomas Maurer, 36, Columbus and Tazwell Franklin, 24, Huntington, W. Va.; $24 bond forfeitures for speeding 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Fall Causes Cut

A fall in a neighbor's driveway resulted in emergency care at Berger Hospital yesterday for 2-year-old Amy Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Nindo Lawson, Route 3. She was treated for a laceration on her forehead and released.

Office Yule Party Dying Out

NEW YORK (AP) — The office Christmas party today is in about the same plight as the whooping crane.

It isn't extinct — but it's in danger of becoming so.

Many young people aged 25 to 30 have never seen a real old-fashioned office Christmas party.

"What were they really like?" they ask curiously about this time of year. "Were they really as wild as the old-timers say they were?"

That depends. The memories of the survivors of office Christmas parties are as undependable as those of the veterans of any other war, and a tendency to gory up the picture develops as the years pass.

Actually, in the old days — say a quarter of a century ago — many office Christmas parties were so sedate that not one member of the staff wound up with a black eye or broken bone. You might not even have had to call the cops.

But the classic, old-fashioned office Christmas celebration — at least as it is fondly recalled by many — was somewhere in between a Roman orgy, a Sioux scalping raid, and the attack on the Bastille.

Some, or all, of the following events might happen:

Somebody fulfilled the dream of a lifetime and put gin in the office water cooler.

At least 15 employees went up to the boss and told him what they really thought of him — and the boss made a mental note to start off the New Year by giving 15 merit decreases in pay.

In attempts to break up one first fight, four more would start.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

A physician was admitted to a hospital as a patient for an abdominal operation.

For the first time in a long career in medicine, he found himself in the exact situation as the hundreds of his patients he had treated in the same hospital.

He was unable to be checked into his room immediately because of a series of minor annoyances. For example, the hospital admissions records demanded for completion the answers to endless questions, some as bizarre and seemingly unrelated as, "What is the maiden name of your wife's mother?"

His annoyance mounted when he could not, for the moment, recall this information or the address of his insurance carrier.

He realized that patients, tense and nervous at the time of admission to the hospital, should be immediately sent to their rooms, while some member of their family takes over the responsibility of answering these important questions.

The first few days of routine examinations, blood tests and X-rays were uneventful. The operation was successful, and the next few days were spent with the expected discomfort after surgery.

old-fashioned office Christmas party: the younger generation just doesn't have the stamina to endure them, and the older generation doesn't have the strength left to enjoy them properly.

The Pickaway County Engineering Department announced it was erecting 45-mile an hour speed signs on Walnut Creek Pike.

The Harper Bible Class of First EUB Church was selling Christmas trees.

Harry Hill, Long Ave., and his mother, Mrs. Nellie Hill, were spending a few days in Wichita, Kan.

Miss Geraldine Doyle, New Holland, was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party held in the home of Mrs. Webb Steinhauer, Williamsport.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The campaign to provide new uniforms for the High School Band received a boost of about $50 when a benefit motion picture was presented by Richard Williamson, manager of the Cliftona Theater.

One of the heaviest fogs in years settled over Circleville and surrounding areas last night.

A petition signed by 53 persons was presented to council requesting that a street light be installed on Ohio Street between Washington and Clinton Sts.

The Business World

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Winter's first onslaughts may be putting a crimp on construction here and there but not in the industry's confidence that still another good year lies ahead.

Construction poured about $62 billion into the economy in 1963, and in the first 11 months of this year was running 6 per cent ahead of that.

Once feared as a possible drag on 1963's economic growth because of a slowdown in home building, construction in general now is billed to add at least a moderate lift next year.

Housing accounts for about one-third of the total and may be less than spectacular. Many elements in the other two-thirds continue to boom.

Census Bureau figures for November show actual construction, figured at a seasonal adjusted annual rate, running at $65.6 billion, ahead of both October 1964 and November 1963.

This helps offset the pessimism generated by the October reports of another statistic, contract awards. These had dropped 7 per cent from a year ago, largely because of the sharpest decline of this year in the residential field.

Contract awards point ahead and any drop if prolonged is disturbing. But economists point

Governors' Dilemma

By John Chamberlain

The Republican governors will have come out with various pronouncements at Denver, Colo., before this column appears in print. But no matter how bravely they support the idea of a permanent independent GOP governors' organization designed to "parallel," if not to supplant, the party's national committee, the notion that a committee of governors can run a big national political organization is inherently implausible.

It is implausible because governors are, above all, local moguls with local and regional problems. And for two years out of every four, the strongest governors belonging to the political party which is not in possession of the White House are almost invariably laying their lines to capture the presidential nomination for themselves. They become prima donnas at such a time, willing to cooperate at only one thing, which is to head off any man who happens momentarily to be a front runner.

At this moment a letterhead organization called the Ripon Society, headed by Professor John Saloma of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is busy levelling an accusatory finger at Bill Miller, Barry Goldwaters vice presidential running mate, claiming that he sabotaged the Republican Governors' Association during his term of office as National Chairman.

The absurdity of this charge is apparent when one goes back to the circumstances of the Governors' Conference held at Miami Beach, Fla., in 1963. Certain northern Republican governors came to that meeting quite prepared to make capital for themselves in the presidential sweepstakes. Nelson Rockefeller of New York dominated it, obviously trying to retrieve a shaken personal position by bringing up the question of civil rights at every turn. Governor George Romney of Michigan couldn't take any issue with civil rights, for he believes in them as strongly as Rockefeller. But he resented the fact that other governors were using the conference as a sounding board to further their own ambitions. He thought the governors were there to discuss their own local problems, seeking light on how those problems had been solved in states other than their own.

The Republican governors might have gotten into a horrible hassle if it hadn't been for Bill Miller, who counselled them not to break ranks. He advised them to let the Democrats, who were split between northern liberal governors and southern segregationists, do the squabbling.

The Democrats, who numbered among them Governor Wallace of Alabama and Governor Barnett of Mississippi, did just that. This columnist, a conservative, distinctly recalls a conversation he had at Miami Beach with Doris Fleenon, a commentator on the liberal side of the fence. Miss Fleenon was eloquent with admiration for Bill Miller for his feat in holding the Republican governors together.

In the months subsequent to the Miami Beach meeting, Bill Miller did his best to keep the Republican Governors' Association, hatched in 1963, working in harmony with the National Committee. The Ripon Society is now trying to make this seem part of a malevolent Goldwater "plot." But consider what might have happened if the Republican governors had gone off on an "independent course." What could possibly have held them together as an independent entity during the last part of 1963 and the first part of 1964?

Throughout that period the Republican governors of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Oregon, and possibly Ohio all had hopes of landing either the presidential or vice presidential nominations for themselves. Nelson Rockefeller had his apparatus working throughout the country, hoping to cop the crucial primaries. Scranton and Romney, although they refrained from actively proselytizing for rates, were obviously hoping to profit from a convention deadlock. Fannin of Arizona was working for Goldwater. Hatfield of Oregon had vice presidential ambitions. How, then, could they have successfully carried out the party work needed to bring unity into the overall national Republican effort?

A Republican National Committee and its National Chairman should ideally be committed to preparing the ground to elect any person who happens to be nominated by the party convention. Whether Dean Burch, the present National Chairman, is capable of the objectivity and impartiality needed for such a task is a question that must be considered by itself. But the fact that he is distrusted by certain Republican governors is no argument for letting the governors take over the national operations of the party. It would turn the party into an "all chiefs and no Indians" nightmare.

ANNIVERSARY PLANNED — Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gaines of Bull Run Road, near Adelphi, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary with open house at their residence 1-5 p. m. Dec. 20. They were married Dec. 26, 1914 in Chillicothe by the Rev. James Bethel. Mrs. Gaines is the former Goldie Francis. They are the parents of four children, Paul, Clinton St.; Willard, 717 E. Mound St.; Mrs. Helen Davis, Eva Drive; and Mrs. Wilma Wilcox, Middletown. They also have 18 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren See Another One!

DEAR ABBY: After 15 years of marriage, my husband and I separated because of his interest in another woman. We lived apart for two months and then he asked to come home again, so I let him. Although we are living together, he is not the same any more. We are married in name only and I think the only reason he came back was because it is cheaper than living separately. He comes and goes as he pleases and I'm alone most of the time anyway. I think he still has this woman on his mind. I am depressed and upset all the time. Do I have to put up with this? Don't advise me to see a lawyer because my husband is one.

DEPRESSED: Just because a woman has a lawyer for a husband doesn't make her ineligible for legal redress. If you want to know what your legal rights are, ask a lawyer. But first, see a doctor. Going along with an "in-name-only" type marriage may be cheaper for the husband, but it's very expensive (emotionally) for the wife.

DEAR ABBY: I have a very dear friend who was widowed after 18 years of marriage to a truly wonderful man. He was loved and respected in the community. He provided well for his wife during his lifetime and left her with no money worries. She recently married again. She claims her second husband is "her age," but he looks younger. She tells everyone she meets that her second husband is soooooo much better than her first, this is the first time she has ever really been "in love," she never dreamed such happiness could be hers, and on and on and on. It is so unbearably, Abby. How can I, her oldest and dearest friend, let her know how foolish she sounds?

NAUSEATED: You probably can't. But if you are willing to test your friendship, go ahead and try.

DEAR ABBY: Why do people who are honest in every other respect think nothing of cheating the telephone company? I refer to those person-to-person calls to signal someone that you have arrived safely. I was recently visiting a friend when her son, who had driven himself to college, telephoned and asked for "Fritz" McGuire person-to-person. ("Fritz" is the DOG!) She laughed and said he always did that to let them know he got there all right. Isn't there some way the telephone company can put a stop to that?

DISGUSTED: If there were, they would have put a stop to it long ago. But if you (or anyone else) can come up with a solution, I am sure the telephone company would like your number.

CONFIDENTIAL TO E. E. IN GREENVILLE, N.C.: Man's great capacity for suffering proves that he has a spark of the divine within him. For no mere mortal could endure the pain that many a man is called upon to bear during his lifetime.

Ohio Freshman Enrollment Up

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A 20 per cent increase in freshman enrollment helped Ohio's approved colleges and universities post enrollment increases for the 12th straight year.

Figures released Monday by the Association of Ohio College registrars show statewide enrollment of 230,458 students, 52,259 of them freshmen.

Of the total, 46 per cent attend state universities, 14 per cent municipal schools and 40 per cent the 44 private or church-related colleges.

Ohio State University is the largest, with 30,000 fulltime students, but five other institutions — Cincinnati, Ohio University, Kent, Miami and Bowling Green — have more than 8,500 students.

'Canon 35' To Get Airing

Tribunal To Study TV Effect on Estes Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has decided to rule on whether live television coverage of the trial of Billie Sol Estes on a charge of swindling violated his rights under the U.S. Constitution.

Estes, the Texan whose financial bubble burst with heavy losses by lending companies, appealed to the high tribunal from his conviction by a state court jury in Tyler, Tex. He was sentenced to eight years imprisonment.

The Supreme Court, in announcing it had granted Estes a hearing, said it would be restricted to the Texan's complaint against requiring him to "submit to live television of his trial."

The announcement said the hearing will be limited to this question:

"Whether the action of the trial court, over petitioner's (Estes') continued objection, denied him due process of law and equal protection of the laws under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States in requiring petitioners to submit to live television of his trial, and in refusing to adopt in this all-out publicity case, as a rule of trial procedure, Canon 35 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics of the American Bar Association, and instead adopting and following, over defendant's (Estes') objection, Canon 28 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics, since approved by the judicial section of the integrated (state agency) state bar of Texas."

Canon 35 deals with "improper publicizing of court proceedings. The canon states: 'The taking of photographs in the courtroom, during sessions of the court or recess between sessions, and the broadcasting or televising of court proceedings detract from the essential dignity of the proceedings, distract participants and witnesses in giving testimony, and create misconceptions with respect thereto in the mind of the public and should not be permitted.'"

Canon 28, as approved by the State Bar of Texas, permits a witness to object to having his testimony televised, but does not permit a defendant to object to such proceedings. The canon says that supervision of such proceedings should be left to the trial judge, "who has the inherent power to exclude or control coverage in the proper case in the interest of justice."

In appealing to the Supreme Court, Estes contended he was denied due process and equal protection of laws by various means in addition to the television coverage.

He argued he was denied opportunity to examine members of the grand jury of bias and prejudice against him because of publicity about his case; three of the trial jurors had preconceived opinions that Estes was guilty; there was no evidence to support the first count of the indictment charging swindling.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals unanimously upheld conviction of Estes on Jan. 15, 1964.

Estes also faces a 15-year federal prison sentence on a conviction for mail fraud and conspiracy. The U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans on August 11, 1964 upheld the federal conviction. That case also has been appealed to the high court but was not reached today.

Estes was charged with fraud and conspiracy in arranging with farmers for mortgages on non-existent fertilizer tanks. About $24 million was involved in the transactions.

In its opinion upholding the Estes conviction, the three-judge appeals court noted that

Villanova '5' On Climb as Kentucky Falls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Villanova's Wildcats are scratching their way up the college basketball ladder. Their Kentucky cousins may be up a tree.

Bill Melchionni's jump shot with 22 seconds to go in overtime lifted Villanova past Princeton's Ivy League champions 61-60 Monday night while North Carolina was caging the nationally ranked Kentucky 'Cats 82-67.

The developments at Philadelphia and Charlotte, N.C., came too late to affect the Associated Press weekly ratings, released today with Kentucky in the No. 9 spot and Villanova barely outside the top ten. A shuffle on the next go-round is likely, however, with Villanova assuming the role of top 'Cat.

Top-ranked Michigan, meanwhile, cleared its bench early while brushing off Missouri 91-61 and Kansas State, knocked out of the top ten by Indiana last Saturday, rebounded against Southern Illinois 61-48.

Indiana whipped Oklahoma 87-79; Ohio State beat Houston 77-69; Bradley edged Murray State 76-74; Tennessee topped Georgia Tech 66-52; Utah State thumped Pacific 98-74 and Arizona surprised Texas Tech 83-75 in other games involving national powers.

Tonight's top games match third-ranked Vanderbilt against Western Kentucky; San Francisco, No. 5, vs. San Francisco State; Minnesota, No. 6, vs. Marquette, and St. John's, No. 10, vs. Holy Cross.

Melchionni outscored Bill Bradley, Princeton's All-American sharpshooter, 24-23 as Villanova ran its record to 3-0. The Wildcats' junior star fired the winning two-pointer after Bill Kingdon's layup had put Princeton ahead with one-half minute left in the extra session.

The Tigers froze the ball for the last two minutes of regulation play but Bradley missed a jump shot with two seconds remaining and the teams went into overtime deadlocked at 54-54.

The tall Tar Heels poured in 20 points in the last 5½ minutes to pull away from Kentucky. Sophomore Bob Lewis led the winners with 23 points, one more than teammate Billy Cunningham, who played the last 17 minutes with four personal fouls. North Carolina has won three of four starts. The Wildcats are 1-1.

Michigan, sweeping both backboards, raced to a 46-26 halftime lead over the visitors from the Big Eight Conference and breezed to its third straight victory with reserves seeing more action than regulars. Bill Buntin led Wolverine scorers with 14 points.

Giants Seek Browns' Scalp To End Year

CLEVELAND (AP)—How bad do the New York Giants want to beat the Cleveland Browns Saturday? Let Giants' coach Allie Sherman answer:

"This isn't a case of wanting to beat the Browns to knock them out of the title. We want to win the last one. We have quite a few new boys playing and it helps to finish off with a victory."

The lowly Giants, 2-9-2 and last in the Eastern Division race, are having a bad year and a victory over the first place Browns would mean a happy ending to a not so happy season.

The Browns, 9-3-1, are still a half game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals and a victory would give coach Blanton Collier's club its first division title since 1957. If the Browns tie and the Cards beat Philadelphia Sunday, there would have to be a playoff game for the division crown.

Collier is optimistic. The 28-19 loss to St. Louis Sunday "wasn't fatal," he said. "We're still alive. It's something you want to forget. Something the boys want to forget."

Palmer Scoffs at Claim He Has Lost Famed Touch

HONOLULU (AP) — Has Arnold Palmer lost his famed finishing kick? Is age catching up with the world's greatest money-winning golfer? Is he developing a Jack Nicklaus complex?

"Ridiculous," says Palmer himself to such suggestions raised after he blew the Canada Cup Individual Trophy last Sunday in one of the most unbelievable collapses in big time golf.

"I just had a miserable round — I played lousy. It's as simple as that. That's all there is to it."

Palmer, after firing successive rounds of 65-66-67-67 with the first of these in the preliminary pro-am, wilted to a 78 on the final day and allowed his teammate, Nicklaus, to walk away with his second successive individual crown.

The American team of Palmer and Nicklaus won easily, the fifth triumph in a row for the United States.

The individual duel between Palmer and Nicklaus, recognized as the world's two best pro golfers, overshadowed the one-sided team competition, although both Jack and Arnie resented the emphasis on the individual play.

Palmer led through the first two days. After 36 holes, he had an eight-stroke bulge on his partner. After 54 holes, although Nicklaus fired a record-tying 65 in the third round, Arnie still led Jack by six shots.

Even with his record for fabulous comebacks, Nicklaus wasn't conceded a chance of making up six strokes on the redhot Palmer.

But Sunday evening, there was Nicklaus the champion with a 72-hole score of 276. Palmer was second with 278. Jack had gained eight strokes in 18 holes.

Was he beginning to feel the weight of his 34 years? Nicklaus is 10 years younger.

"Not at all, I felt better for this tournament than I have in a long time," Palmer said.

"There can't be an excuse there."

Were the greens bumpy? "They were the same greens that I was one-putting the three days before," he said.

Is Nicklaus' success beginning to wear on his nerves and perhaps jar his confidence?

"Jack is young and strong, a fine golfer," Arnold said. "He's going to win a lot of tournaments. I hope I win a lot more."

"It's true I'm not as young as I was, and I plan to cut down on my tournament schedule — maybe 15 a year — but I'm not ready for the old people's home yet."

Palmer, who lost out to Nicklaus in the money-winning race and who finished second five times in a row this past season,

Michigan Still on Top

Wichita Is Rated A Distant Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan's powerful, veteran Wolverines, who have romped through three games without major difficulty, dominated The Associated Press' first regular season basketball poll today and confirmed their pre-season selection as the nation's best collegiate crew.

The Wolverines, who lost only one regular from the team that finished third in the nation last year, gained 32 of the 34 first-place votes cast and had a whopping 100-point margin over second-place Wichita.

Michigan, which already has survived two major tests, gained 337 points in the balloting on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. Wichita, winner of its only start this season, moved up from third in the pre-season poll to second with 236 points.

A flock of upsets and surprises in the first week prompted a major shuffling of the first weekly ratings from the pre-season poll, with only top-ranking Michigan and 10th ranked St. John's of New York holding on to the same spots.

Three of the pre-season elite, fourth-ranked Davidson, No. 7 Syracuse and No. 8 Kansas State, split their two first-week starts and dropped from the top ten. UCLA, the defending national champion and No. 2 in the pre-season picks, also split, and plummeted to No. 7 after an opening loss to Illinois, 110-83.

The top ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points:

1. Michigan (32) 337
2. Wichita 236
3. Vanderbilt 189
4. St. Louis 170
5. San Francisco 140
6. Minnesota (1) 133
7. UCLA 86
8. Duke 83
9. Kentucky 62
10. St. John's, N.Y. 59

showed no sign of discouragement.

It seemed a bit strange to see the charger, who has built up a reputation for miracle finishes, go into reverse and blow a tournament on the last day.

"For three days I played as good a golf as I've ever played in my life," he explained. "It happens I had a bad one. The law of averages. I don't intend to let it bug me. A new year is coming up."

Bucks Win Another Tilt On Texas Soil

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State's Buckeyes enjoyed another helping of southern hospitality Monday, defeating Houston on the Texans' court 77-69.

Saturday, the travelling Buckeyes dropped TCU in Fort Worth, 84-79.

Dick Ricketts led the OSU scoring with 22 points, followed by Ron Sepic with 15.

Guard Joe Hamood, however, was the game's high scorer, pacing Houston with 29. The game was tight most of the way with both teams playing controlled ball until Ohio moved out in front to stay with 10:23 left.

In other action, all against out-of-state foes, Ohio teams split the wins and losses 2-2.

Xavier, led by Steve Thomas, overcame an early deficit and crushed Union of Kentucky at Cincinnati 96-66. Thomas, a deadly accurate shooter, got 34 points. The game was close for the first 13 minutes until Xavier broke it open. The Musketeers led 43-25 at halftime.

At Detroit, John Carroll of Cleveland made it a battle for a half but then the Titan's Dorrie Murrey came into the game and led his mates to a 81-66 victory. Murrey sat out the first half, resting an injured leg. He scored 23 points. Ken Esper led Carroll with 17 points.

Undeclared Marietta, playing at home, coasted to a 104-67 win over winless Waynesburg of Pennsylvania and Tri-State of Indiana dropped visiting De fiance 110-89.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Chances are the Cincinnati Royals will be traveling without Arlen Bockhorn when they go to Detroit Wednesday for their next National Basketball Association game.

Doctors operated on Bockhorn's left knee Monday and a spokesman said there was no indication how long he would remain sidelined. The veteran guard was injured Nov. 25 while playing against Baltimore.

Tiger Grid Schedule Set

Circleville High Schools 1965 football schedule has been completed, according to Paul Sarchet, CHS faculty manager.

The Tigers will meet the same teams they faced during the past season.

On Sept. 10, 1965, they host Grove City to open the campaign. Teays Valley is the next opponent with the game scheduled to be played on the Viking athletic field Sept. 17.

The third game finds Circleville back home Sept. 24, with Pleasant View providing the competition.

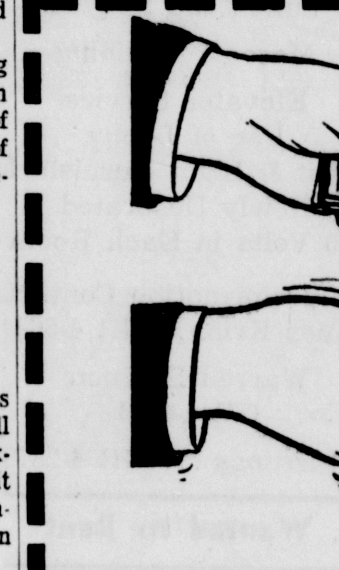

THEN on Oct. 1 the Tigers open South Central Ohio league play by traveling to Miami Trace. On Oct. 8 it's homecoming with Washington C. H. slated as the Tiger foe.

On Oct. 15 the game is at Wil-mington and the following week, Oct. 22, the Tigers are on the road again, this time at Hillsboro.

Greenfield is the last league game of the season on Oct. 29 here.

Completing the schedule will be a road trip to Franklin Heights Nov. 5 and a homestand Nov. 12 with Portsmouth West.

The highest scoring match between National Football League champions and an All-Star College team was in 1940, in which the Green Bay Packers beat the All-Stars, 45-28.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some-body mention unity?

There are about a dozen dictionary definitions of unity and this may explain the lack of it among Republicans who want their defeated party to unite.

Dean Burch says he wants unity although over the weekend some Republican governors said they want him fired as chairman of the Republican National Committee, a job he got through Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The governors in Denver issued a statement calling for party unity and, among other things, suggesting the national committee take a good look at its leadership.

Some of them said this wasn't aimed at Burch; some said it definitely was. Particularly Govs. George Romney of Michigan, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said they want Burch out.

Burch, whether or not he was a good chairman, was a terrible prophet for on election night, Nov. 3, with the roof falling in on Goldwater, he cheerfully predicted: "This picture is going to brighten considerably as the sun moves toward the West."

The final news from the West was even worse. Goldwater lost every Western state except his own Arizona.

But Monday, in a statement which some interpreted as a move to soothe his critics and keep his job, Burch called for unity.

"It now remains for all of us, governors, senators, congressmen, state chairmen, national committee members and workers, to demonstrate that the Republican party seeks strength through unity — not weakness and even impotence through needless quarreling and disunity."

At the same time his right-hand man — John Grenier, executive director of the national committee — quit with a statement which could hardly be considered a unifier or a pacifier.

Grenier, a fervent Goldwaterite, had been under criticism, too. His sudden departure, so soon after the governors' statement, could be considered an effort to cool off attacks on Burch and the committee.

But Grenier didn't seem obsessed by unity when he called in newsmen to announce he was leaving.

He said he will defend Burch and blamed a big part of Goldwater's defeat on "so-called Republicans": Romney, Rockefeller and Scranton. He said he was leaving to resume his law practice in Alabama.

The urge toward unity among Republicans is not new although it has taken strange turns. It began right after the election.

Richard M. Nixon, former vice president who campaigned for Goldwater, said the party needs unifiers, not dividers, and then attacked Rockefeller, who didn't campaign for Goldwater, as one of the principal dividers. He called Rockefeller, a "Spoilsport" and Rockefeller called him "pevish."

About the same time former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was saying he thought Nixon would play a great role in unifying the party. But Robert E. Smylie, Republican governor of Idaho, was just then calling for Burch's ouster.

Goldwater after the election suggested it might be a good idea to realign the Democratic and Republican parties into "two new teams" under "liberal" and "conservative" banners.

But Henry Cabot Lodge, who had been a senator and ambassador to South Viet Nam, thought this was such a bad idea he called it "totally abhorrent to the American two-party system."

While Goldwater said he intends to retain the party leadership, he also said the real source of the leadership is in Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican Senate leader, and Indiana's Charles A. Halleck, Republican House leader.

But Dirksen apparently doesn't want to get into any fights. He said: "I intend to stand still. I intend to do a lot of thinking and get a new perspective."

A PTelevision Radio Times NEW YORK (AP) — The Nielsen report had not even been out for 24 hours when it was already being used to plan a weekday afternoon schedule starting Dec. 28.

In the process of consulting its time spots and soap opera called "Wind," plus what are cynically called "selected to move" two game shows will be moved.

Both are out of the G. O. O. S. N. T. shop, but neither has been an outstanding hit: "Sage" and "Missing Links."

Television's method of using the size of its audience by using estimates Nielsen research often criticized, day's excitement, three networks have doubt that accepted as valid. In any case, all three seemed that, in Nielsen's view, they were practically dead.

Not one of them reached an if figure to be considered as a new next season.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tire builders at Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s Plant 2 Monday night ended a week-long walkout over suspension of a worker assignment. The walkout, which had lasted 800, began a week ago Monday. The strikers refused to return until 37 suspensions for violating a so-called contract clause, went back on the job.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

Synopsis: Prince Chad and the turtle are on the way to Santa Land to the Music Festival. They are followed by a man with a sword to prevent the Prince from ever returning to his kingdom.

CHAPTER FOUR

Three Travellers

"Oh, dear," cried the Prince to the one-eyed Snowman. "There must be something we can do to save you!"

"Nothing at all," said the Snowman sorrowfully. "It happens to my kind every year. Children make us when the snow comes, then forget us when the sun shines. In a little while we melt away and no one even remembers we once were here."

"I know what we could do," said the Prince. He turned to George who only now ambled his slow way up to them. "We could take him to Santa Land with us! There it is always cold and he would never melt away."

George tossed his head and tapped an impatient foot. "He can't walk!" he said shortly.

"But I can!" protested the one-eyed Snowman. "If I have some place to go to, I can walk. Usually snowmen have no place to go to and that is why."

"No, no," interrupted George. "You can't go with us. It simply makes too much of a crowd and all the commotion has already caused me seriously to neglect my singing."

"Was that you singing?" exclaimed the Snowman. "I heard you as you came down the road and I thought to myself I had never heard so noble a sound."

"Indeed, yes," I moaned to think that I would never hear such sound again."

"I see," said George, puffing up as far as he could inside his shell. "It appears that you have a very good ear for music! Well, I suppose it will not matter too much if you come along with the Prince and me. Only let's hurry along, for goodness' sake — and no more interruptions, please!"

The Prince gave the one-eyed Snowman a push to get him started. Then he held the fellow's arm to steady him until he got used to moving his big, clumsy legs and was able to stagger along under his own power. Meanwhile, George plodded along in his slow turtle way. Taking everything into consideration, it appeared to the Prince that it was going to take a very long time to get to where they were going. It appeared that way, too, to Womp, the man with a sword, who trailed the Prince and was getting very impatient to get his job over with.

But George was in excellent spirits. It was a fine, clear day — the very best kind of day for George's voice — and as he sauntered along he freely exercised his remarkable vocal chords.

He sang through two complete operas, taking all parts, for his voice could cover all ranges from soprano to basso profundo. He was about to begin a third opera when the Prince began to be truly worried and dared to interrupt.

"How much farther to Santa Land?"

"About 40,000 miles roughly, I should say," replied George, opening his eyes for the first time since the walk began.

"Forty thousand miles! We can never walk that far in three days!"

"I don't intend to walk, your Majesty," retorted George. "We will go by Hoppy Hope and Pray's underground railway, the entrance to which is not far away. In fact, if I have counted my steps correctly it should be around the next bend in the road."

Sure enough, when they rounded the next bend they came upon a hollowed-out oak tree. On it was a sign saying: "Hoppy Hope and Pray's Underground Railway."

"What a strange name!" said motion picture for Wednesday night's session, although demand for the film has been running high, state aides have reported.

Gov. James A. Rhodes recently wagged a finger under the nose of a Circleville calling and chided the community for its inadequate airport facilities. The state's chief executive declared that the Pickaway County seat should move promptly toward development of an airport which could handle two-engine aircraft on hard-surfaced runways.

Such an airport would require adequate storage, maintenance and communications facilities, the governor said. And the state's chief executive promised that his office could provide much assistance in planning of such a venture.

The governor long has stressed that modern air traffic facilities are necessary for a community to keep pace with industrial development and expansion.

Pettit said that Wednesday evening's program would be concluded with a social hour, including refreshments.

Special Panel Due To Study Redistricting

Sponsors of the measure, with Rep. Kenneth B. Creasey, R. Delaware, acting as spokesman, asserted the reforms are needed to update Ohio's parole and clemency procedures.

Among other things, the bill would abolish the present five-member Pardon and Parole Board and replace it with a seven-member Board of Adjudicators.

Creasey said the new board would differ from the present one in that its members would be Civil Service employees trained in parole work.

Present members' jobs would not be affected and they would be allowed to serve on the new board until their terms expire, Creasey said. The new agency also would include parole and probation supervision sections and one on administration and research.

The House returned to its Government Operations Committee a worked-over bill to raise the pay of Supreme Court, appellate, common pleas, and county judges.

That move came after spokesman for the House Rules Committee announced changes from the version reported out earlier.

These included a change in the effective date of a proposed mandatory retirement age of 70 for judges. Originally, the provision was to take effect next year but under the change it would not take effect until Feb. 15, 1967. This would permit jurists affected by the bill more time to prepare for retirement, sponsors said.

Members of the conference committee named to iron out differences over an Ohio congressional redistricting map headed into the toughest job of the special legislative session today.

It took three conference committees to reach agreement on the last redistricting effort in 1951 when changes were far less extensive.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, recalled that as a result of his efforts as a conference member then he lost friends he has since failed to regain.

Most of Ohio's 23 congressional districts are revised under the present disputed plans and a new 24th district created to eliminate the statewide congressman-at-large post.

Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, chairman of the Senate State Government Committee that revamped the House plan, said the six-member conference committee would get to work promptly in the hope of reaching early agreement regarded as the key to special session adjournment.

Cearney said his principal aim in conference sessions will be to keep intact the present 19th Congressional District composed of Mahoning County and the southern part of Trumbull County. The district would be extensively changed under the plans in dispute.

Stockdale admitted he agreed to serve as a conference member only at the request of Senate majority leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, who appointed Senate members.

Give Fido Nylon Ski Jacket, Cap

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't tell Fido, but to keep up with the real top dogs this Christmas, he must have flannel pajamas, heated sleeping pad and a self-service biscuit dispenser.

That's the word from those in the know on the pooch fashion front.

For the dog of real distinction, these other items are being shown in the doggy departments of stores:

A striped Arabian tent, complete with mattress, where the dog tired-of-it-all can rest in privacy, $14.95 up.

A nylon ski jacket and cap, for the outdoor dog who likes to hear the whistle of the wind in his ears, a nifty outfit, $7.98.

Ear muffs with attached tinkle-bell topped beret, for the indoor dog who still must go outdoors occasionally, $2.98.

For the lady dog who runs with the cafe society set, a velvet cocktail collar, in lavender and other shades, trimmed with roses and semi-precious stones, $2.98.

The pub-crawling gentleman dog hasn't been overlooked. He is offered a velvet collar, with white, formal, bow tie, $4.98.

Naturally, the evening dogs want to bring out the true highlights of their hair. Color shampoo is useful here at $2 a bottle.

For the dogs who have to play Santa Claus on Christmas Eve, like their masters, a Santa Claus suit, with beard, very stylish, $4.98.

Some discriminating dogs may want something better than the clothes shown on the racks. A made-to-measure mink coat at $65 may satisfy their quality tastes.

'Bonanza' Rated as Top Video Show

NEW YORK (AP)—The major television networks wound up in approximately a three-way tie in audience popularity, according to Nielsen ratings made public today.

Research departments of all three networks found that the final statistics based on Nielsen's sampling of television homes during two weeks in mid-November resulted in total ratings of 19.4 for both CBS and NBC, and 19.3 for ABC. Each rating point represents slightly over 500,000 homes, and usually is counted as representing slightly more than a million viewers.

The report found NBC's "Bonanza" the nation's most popular show, followed by ABC's "Bewitched" and CBS' "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C."

ABC's "The Fugitive" and CBS's "Andy Griffith Show" were tied for fourth, followed by CBS's "Red Skelton," "The Munsters," "The Lucy Show," Jackie Gleason, and ABC's Thursday night edition of "Peyton Place." These were television's top 10 shows for a rating period which the industry considers critical in making any schedule changes and in planning for next year's schedule.

Dens 1 and 2 acted out a skit "Three Rivers." William Eitel and John Rooker received Bobcat Pins. Wolf patches were presented to Gary Kenworthy and Carl Garrett.

Games were played and refreshments served at the close of the evening. The next meeting of the group will be December 28, at the Church.
